Interested in College and Career Readiness?

If so, join the Exploring Program at the American Management Association (AMA). AMA's college and career readiness program will include workshops on resume writing, interview skills, networking skills, business communication, business negotiation, business etiquette, and projecting a positive professional image. Every student will have an opportunity to look over their resumes with an AMA manager and to partake in a mock job interview. This program is beneficial for any student interested in looking to go to college or launch their career after high school.
